

Eddie "The Twister" Bravo Biography

Eddie "The Twister" Bravo is an American practitioner of Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu who holds a black belt under the legendary Jean-Jacques Machado.

He is most famous for his win as a brown belt against the great Royler Gracie by triangle choke in the 2003 Abu Dhabi Submission Wrestling championships. He is also known for his unique style of no-gi Brazilian Jiu-Jitsu, called 10th Planet Jiu-Jitsu, which includes the Rubber Guard, The Twister, and his revolutionary half guard game.

He is also known for his mixed martial arts commentating on the Ultimate Fighting Championship, King of the Cage, Pride, and is also a music producer and runs his own record label thetwisterRecords.

He lives in Hollywood, California, where he runs his 10th Planet Jiu-Jitsu school out of Legends MMA.